Hello Mustang Faculty,

During this COVID -19 break in our traditional classroom environments, Norco Online offers weekly newsletters designed to quickly highlight the news, resources and tips for you in this online transition.

GOOD NEWS!

Though this is not new, the news is you are all amazing. It's always nice to type, to say and to hear from time to time.

Thank you , dear faculty and staff for working tirelessly to make your courses Accessible to our students over the past few weeks. Only 6% of course taught have work to do. Simply amazing ! Today is the deadline to make 100% of our courses Accessible using the tools provided in Canvas. We can do it!

Thank you , A-Team for supporting faculty. Who is B.A. Baracus in this lovely community? Mr. T. was my childhood idol.

Thank you, Accessibility mentors for supporting your colleagues in this massive undertaking .

Thank you, Deans and Chairs for leading, communicating, and working behind the scenes to make this machine move so smoothly .

Thank you , to the dynamic duo of Dr. Lee and Dr. Green for inspiring us with your lives,

Persistence is vital for online students,
If there were a marathon in education,
we have been experiencing this series of modules by module, day by day.
So make sure you remind students that a little makes a bundle .

Quality Control is essential to keep in mind as the semester progresses. Instructors are the front line in this process. Building quality online courses requires an eye for any areas of improvement. Ask yourself questions and experience your course from the students' points of view. Some questions to include in your weekly maintenance include:
